AUSTRO - HUNGARIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS (via London), June 4.--Przemysl's recapture by Austrian and Bavarian troops, according to details received from the front, resuited from the capture of five forts in the northern section and the simultaneous threatening of the forts on the south and west fronts.

In their retreat through the great Galicia petroleum district the Russians are setting fire to every oil well in their path. Vienna despatches to day estimated that $6,000 tons of all have been set in flames, lighting up the region for miles along the Pracmysl-Lemberg railway.

All the public schools were closed here to-day in celebration of the vignority at Pracmysl. The Berlin newspapers predicted that Mackensan's drive will sweep every soldier of the Caar out of Galician territory.

Vienna despatches to the southeast, Stry has been left behind as Gen. von Linsingen's forces are pushing their war northward toward the Dniester, with Lemberg presumably as their objective, seeking to avoid the great marshes to the west. "After we rowed away the submarine's crew set fire to the Halvador and then sank her with a few shells. Then they ran alongside our boat, gave us some tobacco, two bottles of brandy and a couple of rubber coats and towed us a short distance. They dropped us when another ship came in sight."

While the German submarines show few signs of abandoning their war-fare on neutral vessels, having torped and sunk the Norwegian ship to dea, the Berlin Government is beginning to admit "mistakes" on the part of commanders of undersea boats. GERMAN OFFICIAL SENT BY ENVOY AS HIS PEACE AGENT

Dr. Gerhard, Who Sailed Yesterday, Is a Member of the Privy Council.

TO TELL ALL THE FACTS.

Has Been in This Country Some Time and Knows Public Sentiment.

Dr. Meyer Gerhard, member of the German Privy Council, the agent by whom Ambassador Count von Bernstorff is to acquaint the German Govnent with the real attitude of this Government and its people regardng the German use of submarines igainst merchant vessels, sailed for Commission Comes to Superintend Copenhagen, Denmark, yesterday on the steamship United States of the Scandinavian-American Line.

It was known in Washington yesterday that President Wilson had agreed with Count von Bernstorff that in view of the unsatisfactory conditions in wireless service—the only means of rapid communication available between the Ambassador and his home office—that a fully informed messenger in whom the German Foreign Office would have complete confidence might well go at once o Germany to supplement the mestages which the Count has forwarded by cable in the United States diplomatic code through the American Embassy at Berlin. But the name of the messenger and his ship did not become known until to-day.

Dr. Gerhard has been in this city at the Ritz-Carlton for some time. He is a close friend and associate of Dr. Dernburg, the German protagonist whose zeal in trying to shape American sentiment brought about a request to the German Embassy that he leave this country as soon as convenient. Dr. Gerhard delivered an iddress here recently after, a speech of introduction by Dr. Dernburg.

The German messenger went aboard the liner United States just before sailing time yesterday, accompanied by four friends. He retired to his stateroom at once and a guard was posted at the door. Dr. Dernburg was not with him and is still at the Ritz-Carlton. He has intimated that he too will sail for a Scandinavian port within two weeks. Meantime he has instructed the management of the hotel that he will receive no cards from would-be callers.

Before the Scandinavian-America Line would accept Dr. Gerhard as a passenger he had to produce a safe interference from any cruiser of the allies which might encounter the United States. The line has a strict rule, in order to avoid complications, forbidding the booking of Germans or Austrians.

Dr. Gerhard, who was known as "Dr. Meyer" to the employees of the hotel, made rather a mystery of his departure from the Ritz-Cariton yesterday. He ordered his luggage put into a taxicab and went to the desk to say that he wished any mail or callers say that he wished any mail or callers for him to be referred to Dr. H. J. Albert, who has been a guest of the hotel for five days.

Dr. Gerhard said he did not know when he would be back, and declined to tell where he was going.

Dr. Albert has an office in the rear of the offices of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company at No. 45 Broadway. He has a large staff of clerks. He refused to see reporters to-day or send out any information about himself or Dr. Gerhard. His clerks were sorting clippings from United States newspapers of articles and cartoons regarding the war. He is spoken of by Hamburg-American officials as "commercial adviser to the German Embassy."

The friends of Dr. Gerhard in German shipping and commercial circles downtown expressed themselves as greatly pleased with his selection. They recalled that he had travelled the United States from coast to coast many times and his powers of observation had been trained by long experience in Berlin as Reporting Counsellor.
